Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 23 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Largely dry, possible rain in the west. Breezy, feeling mild.

Today:
Staying largely dry across the region, but westernmost areas may see the odd bout of patchy rain in the morning. A few sunny spells early on, but generally cloudy throughout. Windy, but remaining mild. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Remaining dry through the evening, but some rain is likely to encroach upon northern and western areas through the night. Staying breezy throughout, but feeling mild. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Wednesday:
Northern and western areas continuing to see outbreaks of rain through the day, with the rain progressing further east later in the day. Another cloudy, mild day, with winds easing. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Sunny spells with some isolated showers on Thursday, and lighter winds. Dry and bright on Friday and Saturday. Mild days but increasingly colder nights.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.